

Delegate to Accumulate

“If a job’s worth doing, do it yourself”

The Challenge

Delegation is an ideal that cannot be obtained. Managers tend to be control freaks as they know if they do it, it will get done. The challenge is that the manager is only one person and the customer’s demands are getting greater and their expectations higher and one manager cannot do it all. Putting in more hours to get things done just weakens the product and the service and results in unhappy customers, a stressed manager and an underachieving workforce that are still being paid the same salary.

The Solution

Learn what delegation is all about so you can truly grasp the concept and practically implement it so there is greater output for less of your personal input. Empower others by applying the right level of delegation. Use delegation to strengthen your managerial skills and performance whilst growing your individual’s performance

This half day pragmatic workshop enables you to do the following :

- Plan delegation for effective results
- Understand the 4 different levels of delegation and when to apply them
- Appreciate the pros and cons of delegating and delegation
- Increase your output
- Develop your people to be part of the solution
- Apply the D.E.L.E.G.A.T.E method for maximum certainty

The Audience

This workshop is ideally suited to anyone who works with people and needs to delegate to fulfil their role as well as delight the customers. Struggling with balancing delegation and control is also addressed in this workshop

You will be working with others who share similar challenges, possible solutions and experiences. You will also receive tools, techniques, solutions, and guidance on how to delegate with accuracy, confidence and maximum results
