

Mind your own Business

Beyond Investors in People

To keep on track we need to focus some of our valuable time working ON the business so we know where we've been, what's worked, what hasn't, what needs to happen and where we are going.

This morning workshop reunion has been designed to provoke some meaningful thoughts and actions for your business, by sharing and learning from Expressions personnel as well as other business leaders within the construction industry. Whether you have decided to continue with your Investors in People recognition or not this workshop will explore and help you implement the business benefits of the Standard so you can build a better business with the right people satisfying the right customers bringing in the right business and delivering the profit margins
